Communicating CoMAH risks to your employees

KEY LEARNINGS & RECOMMENDATIONS

Ensure that your employees understand the risks associated with what you do and seek to reinforce those messages periodically.

Ensure that risk awareness is appropriate and targeted to the audience.

Ensure that any delivery is interactive, and involves line management and supervisors where appropriate.

FURTHER READING

More information on process safety and communicating risks to the workforce can be found here:

HSE Organising for Health and Safety – Communication
http://www.hse.gov.uk/managing/delivering/do/or ganising/communication.htm

Energy Institute workforce involvement

Energy Institute PSM Framework – Element 4, Workforce involvement
https://www.energynist.org/technical/psm/psm- framework

Process safety Forum Learning Briefs
http://www.p-s-f.org.uk/?cat=39

This Process Safety Learning is shared in order to promote learning and improve safety. You should seek appropriate guidance regarding the relevance, accuracy and completeness of this information to your circumstances prior to implementation.